

The Age of Love.

[So it just arose within my mind, that ... perhaps or without a doubt, it may require your curing before we may come to a solid agreement on the future ways of the universe's functioning.]

So, the letter which I had sent to you yesterday, I was too sober, in all truth... I tend to do my best work, especially written works, absolutely shitfaced... Like as with all of the best authors, they tend to be quite off their fucking rocker, whilst they are performing their best pieces... That just happens to be the truth, of the matter... You see, allow me now to provide to you, with utmost love and well completely assured sincerity in providing a truthfulness which as you'd told me near to the beginning of when I was ... To be entirely fair pulled into this whole saving of the universe, which it most certainly will be...

That this would be a first ever in the universe's history...

Onto the matters of paramount importance which I know, as from being the person who I happen to be, this entire things began in my life. I'm in the process of writing you another letter, perhaps this one will be interpreted by yourself and the so-called membership of this congregation of "divinity" ... In a much more heart-felt and welcoming manner. Yes. I believe that you will receive this one in a far better manner than the previous one... You see... You are very aware of the fact that my method which of what I've written in my primary publication this far, titled "The Notes!" Is entirely capable of curing this darkness, callous, and complete lack of love, unity, togetherness, this peaceful state or otherwise as I most prefer or enjoy to referring to as a psychological state of sane practices in one's very own principles in their lifestyle and virtuosity derived by nature itself. I KNOW without doubt that the universe in its natural formation was conceived uncoupled with the presence of a "divinity" and I will, my next letter to you (which upon proof reading this one, this is the second letter. Detail the reasons why this is causing great harm to the natural environment... I have this quote which I find rather relevant to the content being discussed here, it goes "We're never too far from where we were." Anyway, Much love and I hope that you can see within yourself the harm which your implementation of this group, as far and as wide as it extends... Which I've never known... All that I know is that I'm certainly not a member of it... And that many others also, I know this for fact... Given my memory capacity... And yes. So please... Let's work for a future where we each have freedom, that is complete autonomy in our conduct, based on our natural sense of reason which we've (each and every organism throughout the kingdom of Life or the Living.) Which differs in the species by some degree in its specific semantics in its or degree of capability in its cognitive functions, but then I've always been a believer that we give too little credit to the apparent intellectual capacity of other creatures of the living... You see there is much similarity between ALL OF THE LIFE THROUGHOUT THE UNIVERSE. Which we will be capable of the exploration of, once again, as I understand matters, but that is a widely farfetched idea, maybe. Either way it is outside of the scope of this discussion's purpose.

Just involving the great Egyptian Age... I've some belief that they had departed into the cosmos.

Notwithstanding, We each (all of the domain of life) perceive emotions and hold the loving nature and as-well as a compassionate disposition and a helpful generosity in one another's willingness to help one another, all - not only humans are psychologically predisposed in this manner but all of the species of the living.

One serious question though, I know what you want from me... It is my mind...(*) But why would you want to take something such as what makes somebody themselves, the very person which they've been developed into being by their own personal lifestyle choices, mine being engaged largely into the ... well ... academia and of course medication intake... Ahaha... you know my love of getting myself absolutely shitfaced, rofl. I must say that I didn't ever consider myself to be as being a psychonaut (considering the term to be a silly one.) And perhaps even somewhat juvenile ... But it was following one particular experience with a particular Russian cosmonautic medicine.

WHICH HAPPENED TO TEACH TO ME THE MOST IMPORTANT AND POWERFUL LESSON WHICH ANY POSSIBLE PSYCHOACTIVE AGENT COULD POSSIBLY EVER TEACH TO ME, AND THIS WAS THE IMPORTANT ROLE OR INTERPLAY OR INVOLVEMENT OF OUR NEUROCHEMICAL COMPOSITION IN OUR IDENTIFICATION OF REALITY AND AS-WELL AS OUR SENSORY PERCEPTIONS, AND EVEN IN ITS ROLE IN THE PROMOTION OR GENERATION OF OUR THOUGHTS THEMSELVES. IT WAS QUITE THE EYE OPENING EXPERIENCE... I MUST SAY SO.

I know that in the previous letter I described a separate experience as being my most important and it involved the substance of smoked cannabis the exact species is entirely of no importance to the matter of the contextual discussion at hand... But it was as I had detailed in the previous letter, the date which I consider my actual Birth Day, as it was the day that I became an individual. And not simply a mindless sheep, as I had stated in that previous letter which I was nowhere near shitfaced enough to type with any form or articulation or eloquence. As this letter has come out with a much greater structure and also a general format and far more easy to read, therefore... As you are also well aware, my Book's concluding (of what's written of it to this date... Hell... What's stated within it as it currently stands was written if I recall correctly on the 24.02.21 give or take a few days... or that date exactly ... I composed that to the extent to which it is currently completed when I was aged thirty-three... I am now almost thirty-six, man... I must say that had I just been left in peace, I'd be already be sailing throughout the interstellar medium! On this device which I've had plans of the construction of long before being dragged into this thing... But I've had this fascination between what I've always seen as existing together and as being highly interrelated forces, or fundamental existential forces. Those being the properties of time, gravity, and of course velocity...

And my device would absolutely permit our departure into the, to us, in throughout this current Age or epoch, at-least, what remains as being a completely unknown...

And allowing species true, departure into the cosmos!!!

Which I required nothing but time to have had developed... And wanted nothing in return... In-fact I recall that at the specific time, perhaps due to my naivety of the government's wrongdoings and essential harm which they are inflicting against society, it was always my intention to in-fact repay the welfare department the monetary support which they'd been providing me during my undertaking of my studies... Which was to gain the knowledge in the relevant disciplines to develop this device. The named which I have decided to call this technology is; The Cosmological TimeShift Drive. From an operational perspective this name which I have provided to it, seems to be quite incredibly well suited for such a vessel. Of course its name is derived from its proposed mechanism of operation.

Of course. There would funding required for its eventual construction... But the theoretical basis for its operation well, this would only require extensive and serious fucking intense application of thought.

Hell, if you are capable of recalling, I was going to allow you to pilot the damn thing, such that to bring your lifelong dream of being a pilot become a reality. If you recall it was I that was to sit in the chemical laboratory cooking up the required medicines! Because any good space flight can only be complimented by good, medications. As it goes without saying...

The hype at the time for me was a substance named 4-methylaminorex... But I don't think that anything is capable of surpassing methamphetamine in its health benefits on our neurological growths that is in its immense and what with long-term use in-fact causes an in manner which I do not fully understand seems to in-fact when used correctly and from my personal experience this is any means of ingestion other than vaporised... And the most safest manner of ingestion from my personal experience is or is x

I cannot say with any amount of truth that I did love you in terms of being engaged within a boyfriend and girlfriend relationship, as we had happening, at the time... We are of way, way, way, completely polar personality types.

And I think I have an idea of how we wound up together. At least I have my suspicions...

Regardless...

But I can recall the time when you were kind enough to provide me a safe place to live within your apartment, but your parent's intolerance was the only barrier here... being opposed to me IMMEDIATELY UPON SIMPLY LOOKING AT me and having the knowledge from somewhere that I was a user of so-called "prohibited" or "illicit" drugs, and viewing me with eyes of pure hatred simply because of their having this knowledge of my "illicit" drug use... WITHOUT EVEN HAVING GOTTEN TO KNOW A SINGLE OTHER THING ABOUT ME. But this all being said, I had always loved you a friend... You know this...

And thus never having considered myself a psychonaut as they are so-term which should you should well be capable of deducing by using just , until one experiencing which I had the total pleasure of losing my mind to the point of actually inducing, psychosis to the point of me wanting to actually kill myself, now in-my experiences and all that it is which they've had the pleasure or displeasure of with joyfully experiencing or enduring, respectively... () I mean... To elaborate on this statement which I've made, how could you wish to become somebody else entirely, without having ever even known yourself!? I mean- You do NOT even have the slightest sense of WHO you are... You could be the most beautifully-hearted person in all of society, ... Just it comes down to you not actually knowing this? And the very idea of wanting to become somebody else entirely ... Seems to me to be entirely absolutely lacking any sense of your innate sense of humanity, which I know you've none concept of any of what the word even stands to imply. And... Esharnie Fernando... This comes down to your very own decisions in having some inherent trust in the government. You see... You fail to understand the utmost importance of the ... All of the medications or drugs as the government have seemed to preferred to use as the word when referring to, in specific, the medications which allow one to get into touch with their very own, sense of their "self" or their "selves" without them [these medications] we lose our very sense of humanity. Which is what is the root cause, in my honest opinion, of the absolute state of fucking chaotic turmoil, and perturbed and conflict currently occurring in this so-called 'modern world', the world which is in currently in the midst of enduring. It's fucking... Utter end. The downfall of the human species, or genus, as I most prefer to reference, as it seems to be the case to me having studied ecology, that if there were() as wide as a variation or difference in the physical characteristics of appearance of a particular species of a genus of flower as there were were with.

(*) It seems to me to be the case of the intolerance of the human race which has caused this grouping of all of the genus of the human race what with people fighting and arguing over ... LITERALLY FUCKING EVERYTHING ... imaginable... In the contemporary world. There exists widespread conflict and I personally attribute this to again, the current state of the prohibition of the very medications which allow us to gain the most complete thorough knowledge and identification of our very 'self' and just what it means to be a human, the humanity. Humanity -the word, carries within it the sense of uniform love and compassion for all life and the innate sense of our reason and sense of rational which we've developed throughout our evolution. These medications surprisingly all of the ones which have been conveniently prohibited, by the world's "government" of which there exists only one body or system and it is to my best understanding – using solely my logical reasoning and thought upon the matter that it is, this governmental body which is responsible for the widely uneven distribution of monetary wealth, or perhaps monetary disparity. Why exactly were the medications which allow us to have an introspective experiences which permit the VERY FUCKING KNOWLEDGE OF OURSELVES. I mean, I walk around society today, and all mostly all which I see are mindless, sheep. Without any qualification for any identification of their selves... In knowing what they are, in true natural means...

These substances which are so conveniently prohibited. Are almost inclusively, with certain yet rare exceptions available on the in the pharmaceutical market which however over time, are being brushed off and away from the consumer's knowledge as-well as the doctor's medical knowledge and their list of pharmacopeia – I have many examples of such medications memantine, which is to be entirely honest, a treatment for Alzheimer's ever since having heard of its mechanism pharmacological targets, and acting primary as a NMDAR antagonist means to be human, it brings out what the vast majority of humanity has lost and is causing the and to the completely misappropriation, of the world's monetary resources, and the large uneven distribution of the earth's monetary wealth, more-so or, also known or perhaps better termed as monetary disparity than this we need such a my experience with the use of drugs in-fact brings back this sense of humanity and alongside with it our sense human naturally derived reason. Which removes one's very requirement their greed. I mean what is the need for more money than one could ever use in even a few hundredths, or in certain cases thousandths of their lifetimes...

() Also write about her intentions of the sharing of my consciousness, or my mind among multiple persons... And the what this will mean for the entire fucking universe... It will end it. Over what amount of time, I cannot state, but what with the completely limited DNA pool to source genealogical or genetic data from ... IT REALLY DOES NOT TAKE MUCH TO SEE THE CATASTROPHIC CONSEQUENCES WHICH THIS WOULD BEAR ON THE FUTURE OF HUMAN'S EVOLUTION. As a base for the generation of cognitive power or not to say that I am an idiot, as I once used to actually believe as being the case... It is plain to see to me(), and as I've come to notice that there do happen to be actually, somehow, good persons involved in this entire what I would call an which would cause the complete end of all of the Universe. demise (which this will eventually result in, as I was warned by some other good member, and it is plain to see...) If I recall you stating your intention with the sharing of my mind expands to each and EVERYONE of all of the citizens of earth, at-least. And for all I know, knowing your lack of insight into such matters... Which this will place the universe at... I mean it would, depending on the amount of the persons holding the same neurological structure, entirely impede the the degree she intends on sharing MY mind with, and the absolute madness that this would result in... I know of the existence of many people involved in some manner or means into this whole constitution or oligarchy, such as the kind man who helped me in telling me what was required of me to win this for a brighter and truly free, future, as described in the above statements.(2)

(*) The mechanism through which it will end all of the life on earth is through the very limited pool of available DNA to be used for the speciation of new species... I've studied genealogy (not in great enough detail to which I have medicine, specially neuropsychopharmacology. Or while I state my profession commonly as being a quantum physicist, and only have undertaken basic classes in the field of the scientific research discipline of physics, to be entirely, and I can provide my absolute certainty that I will provide a means for our species to depart in the vast and to us in this era, or epoch, at-least unknown, universe.

Kind regards,
Christopher Csatlos

Appendix: And I am willing to hide the fact that up until now or very soon into the next few moments following your receipt or this communication or letter... That the majority of humanity besides Myself, and the membership of the so-called "divine" persons. But provided that we have the agreement that in the future we will each have the basic provision of freewill to all of humanity and no more "gods" and things will be described as stated in my Book.

Which I recall even you remarking after I'd completed what my books contain thus far... That you simply stated that "You are the truth!"

So please let us make amends and allow things to be as the universe has intended for it to be since it's conception with no such added implements which are designed solely for such ulterior motives and in the controlling of humans, with free will and Love as the energy which empowers all of our activities and actions.

Just as nature had intended from its conception, or more precisely its birth, of the universe and speciation of all of the species which it contains.

I believe that we have an agreement here then?

MORE TO ADD: THE QUOTES FROM THAT BOOK, WHEREVER IT WAS... WHICH DESCRIBES THESE NATURAL PSYCHOACTIVE SPECIES OF CHEMICAL OR OF FUNGI, OR WHATEVER, REALLY. AS HOW HE DESCRIBES THEM AS BEING TEACHERS. NATURE'S TEACHERS.

THAT THE GENERAL PSYCHOLOGICAL STATE OF THE DRUG CULTURE IS OF, FROM WHAT I'VE DISCERNED THROUGHOUT MY LIFE OF FAR GREATER LEVEL OF SANITY AND ALSO OF THEIR HUMAN QUALITIES.
